The green checklist – a project for a multilingual tool for a confluence of green knowledge and library practice

What we want

Our checklist is an easy-to-use tool that will allow librarians worldwide to see what they can do to make their libraries greener and to discuss green topics in their native languages – not only in one of the official IFLA-languages!

What has already been done

We started our checklist during the IFLA 2013 in Singapore with English and German. At present there are 20 language versions available on our website:
